

A Swift Night Out

A Swift Night Out is a fun citizen science project that requires little to no experience with bird surveys. If you can see and count the swifts, you are ready to participate in this much-needed conservation effort!

- Invite your friends, neighbors, family and kids to witness this unique event.
- Many of these roosts are in urban areas and most people believe swifts are bats! A little education goes a long way for conservation.

Dates: Thursday, September 19 and Sunday, September 29

Time: 7:30 PM.

We are looking for sites where you have seen Chimney Swifts using night housing to use as our survey sites for these two evenings. We will choose the top two sites and do one on the 19th and the other on the 29th.

Be sure to watch our website and the September Caller for chosen sites and how to participate.
